

Enunciate by spitting (Friends)

Script

Tony: We've got to find the rest of the platoon.

Richard: Forget about the platoon. The platoon is gone!

Tony: What?

Richard: The platoon is dead. Take facts, Tony!

Tony: So what are we going to do? We have no reinforcement, no food.

Richard: No, there's some food in the basement. I saw potatoes and some dry pasta

Director: hang on a minute. Joey, you keep touching your face. Is something wrong?

Joey: No. No. I thought it might be kind of a cool character thing. You know, he's a face toucher.

Director. I don't think so! Let's take it back to Richard's last lines. Action!

Richard: We may not have any weapons, but we still have food. In the basement I saw potatoes and some dry pasta and a few tins of tuna.

Gary: Joey, can you go through these lines with me?

Joey: Oh, man. They just re-did my make up

Gary: Just the last two pages.

Richard: I found the picture

Tony: The picture? What picture?

Richard: Could you lower your script? I need to see your face, so I can see your reaction

Ok. Look, I know you're a great actor and play all those Shakespeare guys and stuff. But you are spitting all over me, man!

Gary: Of course I am!

Joey: You know you've been spitting on me?

Gary: That's what real actor do! Enunciation is the mark of a good actor. And when you enunciate, you spit!

Joey: Wow. Didn't know that. Thanks! Ok, Ok. Check it out! Picture? What picture?

Director: Action!

Richard: I found the picture!

Tony: What picture?

Richard: A picture of my wife. In your pack!

Tony: You went through my personal property?

Richard: Why do you have a picture of Paulette in your pack?

Jowy: Because we were lovers... for two years!