

Bernie's argument

BERNIE Well, obviously it's me, isn't it -- I work in the City in a job I don't understand and everyone keeps getting promoted above me. I haven't had a girlfriend since... well, since puberty and nobody fancies me, and if these cheeks get any chubbier, they never will.

Honey's argument

MAX ... Honey here earns twenty pence a week flogging her guts out at London's worst record store.

HONEY Yes. And I haven't got hair -- I've got feathers, and I've got funny goggly eyes, and I'm attracted to cruel men. And, actually, no one will ever marry me because... um... my boosies have actually started shrinking.

Bella's argument:

Bella : and most of her limbs work, whereas I'm stuck in this thing day and night in a house full of ramps. And to add insult to serious injury, I've totally given up smoking, my favourite thing. And the truth is... we can't have a baby. Still, um... we're lucky in lots of ways, but surely that's worth a brownie.

William's argument:

Max: Well... I don't know. Look at William, very unsuccessful professionally. Divorced. Used to be handsome now kind of squidgy round the edges... and absolutely never to hear from Anna again once she's found that his nickname at school was Floppy.

William: You did, I can't believe it... you did. Thanks very much, thank you. Well, at least I get the last brownie.

Anna's argument:

I've been on a diet every day since I was nineteen, which basically means I've been hungry for a decade. I've had a series of not nice boyfriends, one of whom hit me. And every time I get my heart broken the newspapers splash it about as though it's entertainment. And it's taken two rather painful operations to get me looking like this. And one day not long from now my looks will go, they will discover I can't act, and I will become some sad middle-aged woman who looks a bit like someone who was famous for a while.
